THE LIST IS GROWING . . .

The list of Miller Trac-Till users is growing steadily; new adaptations are being reported; two row models are being used successfully in the production of nursery stock; cultivation costs are being slashed; and trashy middles are no longer a problem for those who own a Miller Trac-Till. As the Fall season approaches, users are finding the Trac-Till a valuable year 'round piece of equipment—no parking of this tool just because the cultivation season is over.

An outstanding feature of the Trac-Till is the fact that it can be made into a full bar machine for overall ground preparation, lathe house tillage, etc.; and yet be used as a cultivator as well—in reality, two machines in one. The one row model will till a span of fifty inches and the two row model will till a sixty inch strip. The extra spiders to make the machines into full bar models are optional, but very economical.

Growers of every size have bought the Miller Trac-Till; tractors with three point hitch arrangements mount the Trac-Till easily; other mountings are accomplished with the use of mounting brackets designed for the particular make of tractor; and according to soil conditions, even some of the small utility type tractors are successfully handling the Trac-Till.

In cooperation with the manufacturer and the other distributors of the Miller Trac Till, we would be delighted to furnish you with the name of a Trac-Till user close to you. Why not drop us a line and let us tell you where you can see a Trac-Till in use? Better still, we'd like to show you first hand at our nursery what the Trac-Till can do. Drop in to see us and the Miller Trac Till—An Open Door Welcome Awaits You.
